STOCKMAR – artistic quality made in Germany

For more than 100 years, the name STOCKMAR has stood for the highest calibre of art supplies. Here at Stockmar, our understanding of quality runs very deep: we are as exacting about the raw materials we select as we are about our manufacturing processes and the colouring and painting qualities of our finished products. We also strive to ensure that our products positively impact and enhance the abilities of the people using them. As a result, STOCKMAR products invariably offer outstanding quality and allow for rich and varied artistic experiences.

STOCKMAR products enable children to experience the world in a new way – through art. This artistic process, in turn, helps to improve children's mental agility and artistic abilities by promoting creative interplay between their powers of imagination and senses. Moreover, the inner peace that artistic activities tend to inspire serves to counterbalance the pressures of our performance-oriented culture and the high demands made of children in today's world, allowing for greater equilibrium in their childhood development.

With this catalogue, we cordially invite you to browse through our products (our new sets in particular).

Harmonious colour range

- Pleasant, natural-looking colours
- All colours can be combined with each other
- Colours harmonise well together
- Colour range is the same across all STOCKMAR products
- Blending techniques (wax crayons, opaque colours and coloured pencils) work especially well
- The range is based on Goethe's extended colour range

STOCKMAR rainbow edition

Congratulations! STOCKMAR has turned 100 years in 2022 – and you can still join the celebration. The rainbow edition is a truly special gift. The exclusive case contains five vividly coloured wax crayons and two shimmering blocks that will get your creative juices flowing. The intensely aromatic wax was extracted locally in small quantities which makes it a true rarity.

The STOCKMAR horse and the rainbow

The image of the “horse and rider” on our packaging has been inextricably linked with STOCKMAR’s wax crayons and blocks for generations of children.

Dutch artist Rop van Mierlo is one of them. He has developed his very own version of the “rainbow and horse” for our anniversary Rainbow Edition.

STOCKMAR opaque colours

“What lovely, harmonious colours!” Indeed! We achieve this by consistently staying with STOCKMAR’s carefully coordinated colour harmony concept. This concept is based on Goethe’s extended colour range, which is created by blending the primary colours yellow, red and blue. The result is the colour range divided into warm and cold colours. From each primary colour, we have selected two colour tones (lemon yellow, golden yellow, vermilion, carmine red, ultramarine and prussian blue). This enables users to experience colours individually through experiments with the various tones.
